

i mua central maui

transportation study

What is I Mua Central Maui?

Maui is growing, which means more residents and workers in Central Maui. Central Maui is already home to more than a fifth of Maui's people, and growth means new opportunities and new challenges for our transportation system.

The I Mua Central Maui Transportation Study has built on recent efforts, like the Hele Mai Maui Long-Range Transportation Plan and the Ka'ahumanu Ave Community Corridor, to develop a vision for our transportation needs and opportunities over the next 20 years.

The projects, programs, and policies recommended in I Mua Central Maui will ensure that our community is connected by safe, efficient, and sustainable travel options for people traveling to, from, and within Central Maui, including Kahului, Wailuku, Waikapū, Waiehu, and Waihe'e.

When was this work done?

Who has been involved?

I Mua Central Maui has been led by Maui County's Department of Public Works and was guided by local leaders and community members through a Stakeholder Task Force and a Technical Advisory Committee. But we have also heard from you!

The feedback we gathered about Central Maui's transportation needs shaped the project's vision and goals. We've worked with you to identify the most important connections for people walking and rolling, biking, taking Maui Bus, and driving. And we've created and prioritized projects to help get you to the places you need to go. Now we need your feedback on the draft Transportation Study to ensure it captures the needs of our Central Maui community.

What does I Mua Central Maui include?

We've gathered data, reviewed current conditions, talked with you, and considered future trends to create a new vision for transportation in Central Maui. We developed reports and presentations about all of the following (and more, which you can find on our website):

Transportation issues and opportunities in Central Maui today

Goals and evaluation tools to guide priorities

Projects for people walking and rolling, biking, taking the bus, and driving

Better connections to schools, jobs, parks, and family and friends

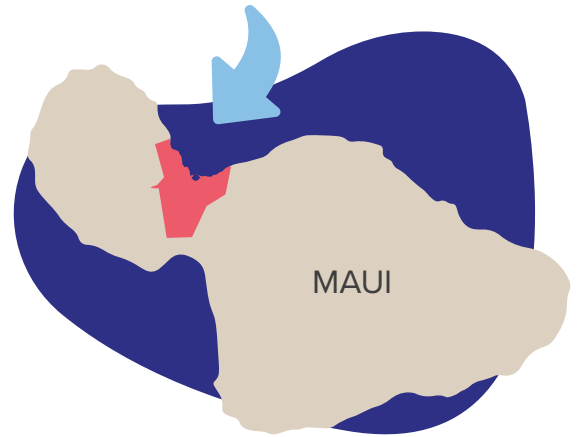

Programs to support people traveling around Central Maui

Funding and partnerships recommendations for getting it all done

Where are the recommendations focused?

Draft I Mua Central Maui Transportation Study

We've reviewed past plans, analyzed data, received input from the community, and identified transportation projects, programs, and policies for Central Maui. Check out the draft to see what we're recommending to make it safer, easier, and more comfortable for people to travel in Central Maui.
